2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: Prior art failed to establish a battery discharge controlling apparatus comprising a fluid electrolyte, a first electrode, and a nanostructured surface between the said fluid electrolyte and said electrode for variably controlling a penetration of said fluid electrolyte into said nanostructured surface, said nanostructured surface comprising a plurality of nanostructures each nanostructure having at least one dimension of less than one micrometer said penetration being variably controlled as function of passing a voltage over said nanostructured surface such that prior to said passing of said voltage over said nanostructured surface said fluid electrolyte is suspended on said plurality of nanostructures thereby preventing contact of said electrolyte fluid with said first electrode and upon said passing of said voltage over said nanostructured surface said fluid electrolyte is caused to penetrate said nanostructured surface and come in contact with said first electrode.
